

The Reverend Georgia Chambers is an ordained United Church of Christ minister who serves as a Board-Certified Chaplain for St. Vincent Hospital in Evansville, Indiana. An avid educator, Rev. Chambers has enjoyed a previous career as a Middle School Special Education Teacher, Case Manager and Mental Health professional. Georgia earned degrees from Huston-Tillotson University in Austin, TX (B.A. Business Administration / Sociology), Ashford University in Clinton, IA (M.A. Education) and Eden Theological Seminary in Saint Louis, MO (Master of Divinity). A native Texan, Rev. Chambers was reared in Austin and made Houston her home for more than a decade. She has also lived, worked and played in the Bay area of California which she considers her spiritual home.

As a Hope Writer, Rev. Chambers co-authored with “Kit” Argrow Evans, 101 Testimonies of Hope: Life Stories To Encourage Your Faith In God. Rev. Chambers finds extra enjoyment in life facilitating spiritual retreats for women recovering from homelessness and drug addiction under the auspices of the Ignatian Spirituality Project. She also enjoys collecting T-shirts, writing, Prison Ministry, cooking, meditating, fishing and observing all of God’s creation. To compliment her life, this multifaceted, sweet spirited, barbecuing Pisces is the spouse of Rev. Michelle Freeman. They have shared life together for twenty-two years.
